Utility Relocation Work Continues On The West Side Of Second Avenue

Workers build a new Electrical Utility Vault on 110th Street between 2nd and 3rd Avenue

Phase 2 utility relocation work continues on the west side of Second Avenue between 106 and 110 Streets. The west side work will move underground gas, water and electrical utilities out from under the avenue and side streets to make way for the tunnel and tracks for the new 106 Street station.

Excavation on 105th Street and Second Avenue

In front of East Harlem Tutorial at 105 Street and Second Avenue the Phase 2 utility relocation contractor is investigating the subsurface environment to determine the best way to re-route the existing gas infrastructure. The community outreach team is working closely with the school administration to minimize the impact to the student population and the surrounding area.

The contractor is also working to install piles for sewer and gas infrastructure from 106 – 109 Street on Second Avenue. These piles are designed to stabilize sewer and gas lines along the construction corridor.

In addition, the contractor is working on electrical utility relocation on the side streets from 106 – 110 street. This involves installing new electrical lines and conduit before decommissioning the existing lines.

Keeping You Informed

Community Engagement - Keeping You Informed

Second Avenue Subway Community Information Center team member, Greg Nyman, shares information about the status of project at the Tito Puente Language Art School Resource Fair

Second Avenue Subway Community Outreach Director Richard Harley (the former District Manager of Community Board 10 in Manhattan) shares project updates and information with members of Community Board 10.

MTA Construction & Development and the Second Avenue Subway Community Information Center are committed to keeping you informed at every stage of the project. Please visit our community information center to explore project exhibitions and our interactive exhibits. We welcome visitors Monday through Friday from 9am to 5pm.

An early and comprehensive community outreach effort was initiated in 2018 with the opening of the SAS Phase 2 Community Information Center at 69 East 125th Street in the center of Harlem. Through interactive programming, community meetings, and presentations, the community outreach team is bringing the story of the Second Avenue Subway to the East Harlem Community.
