Overall Latest Condition (operations for April and subsidies through May compared with the Adopted Budget):

Net preliminary operating results for the month and YTD were favorable to the budget forecast. Passenger revenue underran the Adopted Budget forecast by $67 million (17%), reflecting lower ridership across all Agencies, and through April was below the Adopted Budget forecast by $237 million (17%) in part due to the impact of the Omicron variant on ridership. April toll revenue was favorable by $8 million (4%) due to higher traffic volume, and was $30 million (4%) favorable through April due to higher average toll per vehicle and partially offset by lower traffic volume. Other operating revenue was unfavorable YTD by $69 million (30%), primarily due to a negative shift in the market value of FMTAC's invested asset portfolio.

Operating expenses through April were favorable by $297 million (6%), mainly in professional services, maintenance-related contracts, materials, pension expense, claims, paratransit costs, and health & welfare/OPEB expenses, as well as payroll costs due to the existence of vacancies. These savings were partially offset by higher overtime, higher energy costs, and lower reimbursable overhead credits. Overtime spending through April was $77 million (27%) unfavorable primarily due to vacancy/absentee coverage, and weather-related response at NYCT. Debt service through April was unfavorable by $32 million (3%) due to timing related to the prefunding of interest; this variance will reverse next month.

Overall subsidy receipts dedicated for operating purposes through May were $227 million (12%) favorable, compared with $203.1 million favorable through April. The real estate transactions taxes were favorable by $239 million (53%) and Payroll Mobility Tax receipts were favorable by $40 million (5%). Receipts for the Petroleum Business Tax were unfavorable by $20 million (8%), MTA Aid was unfavorable by $16 million (21%), and the For-Hire Vehicle Surcharge was $17 million (11%) unfavorable. MMTOA receipts were on target. Additionally, the Mansion Tax and Internet Marketplace Sales Tax receipts, which are committed to the 2020-2024 Capital Program, were a combined $110 million (42%) favorable.

² Operating Subsidies are for April 2022, while subsidy provided later in this report are for May 2022. Does not include State and Local Operating Assistance, Station Maintenance, City Subsidy for MTA Bus and Staten Island Railway, and CDOT Subsidy for Metro-North Railroad.

Commuter Railroads. YTD passenger revenues were worse than budget primarily due to lower ridership on Subways, Buses and the Commuter Railroads in part due to the impacts of the COVID-19 Omicron variant. Toll revenue for the month was favorable due to higher-than-budgeted traffic volume and was favorable YTD due to higher average toll revenue partially offset by lower traffic volume.

The Adopted Budget is based on the midpoint between the "best case" and "worst case" scenarios that were developed by McKinsey & Co., except for SIR which is based on the "worst case" scenario and B&T which reflects the "best case" scenario. Through April, passenger revenues remain significantly below pre-pandemic levels and compared with the pre-pandemic 2019 level. Year to date compared with 2019, passenger revenues were down $811 million (41%), while toll revenue, when adjusted to account for the 2021 toll increase, is higher by $93 million (15%).

Preliminary expenses for April were favorable by $49.1 million (4.0%). The MTA HQ variance largely reflects the timing and accrual reversals of various professional services contracts, including health monitoring mainly related to mandated COVID-19 testing, temporary services related to staffing of the COVID-19 hotline, MTA IT purchases, cybersecurity, and consulting services, the existence of vacancies, and the timing of other business expenses. The B&T variance mainly reflects timing and lower spending for major maintenance and painting, the E-ZPass customer service center, lower bond issuance costs, and the existence of vacancies. The MTA Bus favorable variance largely reflects the favorable timing of professional services, including the roll-out of bus technologies and interagency billing, material usage, lower COVID expenses, maintenance work, including facility and farebox maintenance, the timing of claims expenses, and the existence of vacancies. The FMTAC variance primarily reflects the timing of insurance policy renewals and recording of claims expenses. The LIRR variance primarily reflects vacancies, lower overtime, and maintenance & other operating costs, partially offset by higher energy costs and miscellaneous inventory adjustments. The SIR variance is primarily due to the timing of facility and maintenance projects and the existence of vacancies. Partially offsetting these results were unfavorable variances at NYCT reflecting higher overtime and energy costs, and the timing of health & welfare/OPEB prescription drug rebate credits, partially offset by vacancies, lower paratransit costs, and the favorable timing of maintenance and materials expenses; and MNR mainly due to higher electric power and fuel costs, and higher overtime due to the March 27th service increase and unfavorable adjustments related to the Kronos outage, partially offset by the favorable timing of rolling stock material usage.

Year-to-date expenses were favorable by $296.7 million (6.1%). The favorable outcome at NYCT primarily reflects the timing of health & welfare/OPEB expense accruals and prescription drug rebate credits, the timing of maintenance construction services and equipment rentals, the timing of material purchases, the existence of vacancies, and lower paratransit costs, partially offset by higher overtime and lower reimbursable overhead credits. The favorable variances at MTA HQ, MTA Bus, B&T, FMTAC, and SIR largely reflect the factors noted for the month. At MNR, the variance primarily reflects the timing and lower spending on rolling stock maintenance work and related material usage, lower costs for consulting and engineering services, and lower payroll costs, partially offset by higher electric power costs due to higher rates and the impact of the March 27th service increase.

Overtime costs for April were above budget by $17.1 million (24.1%). Most of the overrun occurred at NYCT and reflected higher costs primarily for vacancy/absentee coverage. MNR was unfavorable primarily due to the March 27th service increase and Kronos outage adjustments. MTA HQ was unfavorable mainly due to increased MTA PD vacancy/absentee coverage and higher security needs requiring overtime. Partially offsetting these results were favorable outcomes at the LIRR primarily due to lower fleet and right-of-way maintenance requirements, partially offset by vacancy/absentee coverage, and at B&T due to management efficiencies and improved scheduling and deployment practices.

YTD overtime expenses were $76.9 million (26.9%) higher than budget. The bulk of the overrun was at NYCT and reflected higher costs for vacancy/absentee coverage and severe weather response. MNR was unfavorable largely for the same reasons noted for the month. MTA HQ was unfavorable mainly due to increased MTA PD vacancy/absentee coverage, partially offset by lower security needs requiring overtime. The LIRR unfavorable results reflect higher right-of-way maintenance requirements, vacancy/absentee coverage, weather response, and sanitizing costs. Partially offsetting these results were favorable variances for the same reasons noted for the month at B&T; and lower unscheduled service overtime, COVID-19 related cleaning, and maintenance requirements, partially offset by lower availability and higher weather response at MTA Bus. Note: Due to the Kronos timekeeping outage, overtime spending figures are subject to revision.

Debt Service

Debt Service for April was $303.3 million, which was $52.8 million (21.3%) unfavorable due to timing of an interest payment related to TRB BANs that were called early, and timing related to the prefunding of interest which will reverse next month. Year-to-date debt service expenses of $1,070.2 million were $31.9 million (3.1%) unfavorable due to timing related to the prefunding of interest which will reverse next month.

Year-to-date combined Capital Lockbox revenues were $109.7 million (42.0%) favorable, with the favorable variance mostly due to higher Mansion Tax receipts.

Funds received from the Mansion Tax and Internet Sales Tax are deposited into the Capital Lockbox and are only available for capital purposes.

⁹ Internet Marketplace Sales Tax receipts are captured through the elimination of the tax loophole that previously exempted third-party internet marketplace providers from collecting and remitting New York sales taxes on transactions conducted on their sites.

Regional Economy Report

In March 2022, seasonally adjusted New York City employment of 4.43 million was higher than in March 2021 by 285,100 jobs (6.87%), although it remains 202,200 jobs (4.4%) below the pre-pandemic March 2019 level. March seasonally adjusted employment was 18,000 jobs above last month, a 0.4% increase, the 23rd consecutive increase since employment bottomed in April 2020.

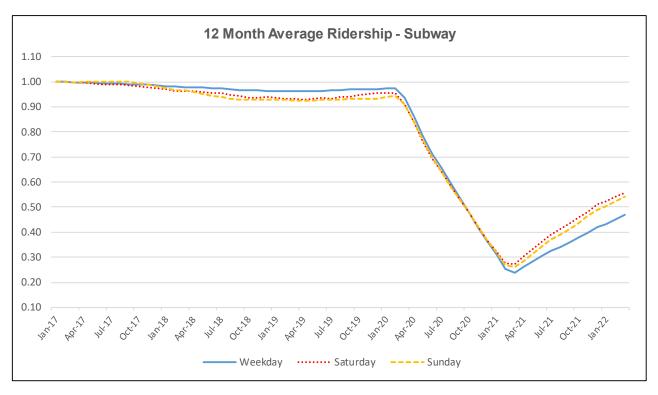

Ridership and Employment

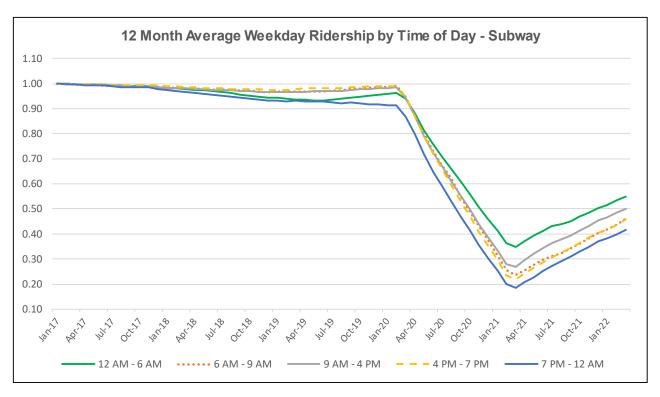

Beginning in January 2011, the twelve-month average for employment increased by 24.1% through February 2020, while the 12-month average MTA-wide ridership fell by 0.7%. Since March 2020, however, the impact of the COVID pandemic has altered the trajectories of both, with March employment standing at 14.7% above the January 2011 level, while MTA-wide ridership for January is 48.6% below its January 2011 level.

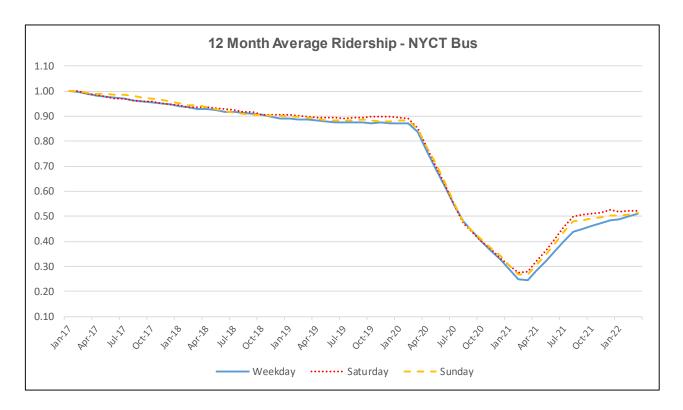

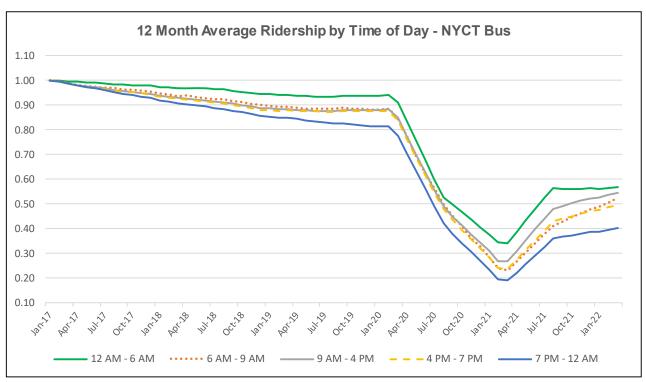

Regional Economy Report

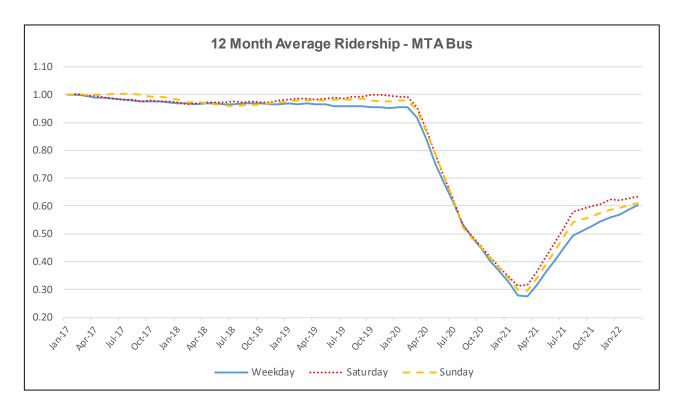

The following ridership and vehicular traffic trend graphs depict 12-month averages; for example, the January 2017 data point is the average of February 2016 to January 2017, and the February 2017 data point is the average of March 2016 to February 2017, providing a visual representation of trends over time. Further, data have been standardized to 1.0, allowing for an easier comparison of trends on a single graph.
